Case Study

Our client UKPHR, saved 882 working hours across the office team with the help of our enterprise platform, Regulator Online.

Background

UKPHR regulate public health specialists, public health speciality registrants and public health practitioners from a variety of backgrounds as an accredited register of the Public Standards Authority .

Challenge

The primary challenge for UKPHR was processing their applications quickly without a fully digital and responsive members portal. Without smart workflows admins had to complete labor intensive processes.

Solutions

When we first spoke with UKPHR, one of the problems we immediately identified was the lengthy and fractured annual renewal process.

Fortesium stepped in to provide the solution. Our Regulator Online platform is designed to Cut Down Time, Effort, and Costs on Managing Your Licensing.

Our approach was to implement our one click process. Which in itself saves 200 working hours a year.

"Night and day experience with the new system. Much easier to access, complete and know everything is in place with instant renewal confirmation. "
